

Usability Test Overview

5/5/14

Site functioned well handling illegal characters in the username field of create an account.

User was Impressed by the javascript correcting his time input so that it was in a proper format. "24:00" and greater returns an endtime error, we can't create overnight events.

Scott won the game while this test was going on.

Decline friend request function worked, the notification alert icon worked.

User Also commented on how bland the site was, but appreciated the simplicity and cleanliness of the site. Definitely something to work on is colors.